

2. MONUMENT —

On the County Courthouse grounds at the corner of Center Street and Main Street stands a monument erected by the Daughters of The Utah Pioneers. The inscription reads:

Indian Peace Treaty

In 1864, Indian troubles forced the pioneers to build a fort at Heber. Bishop Joseph S. Murdock, who was friendly with the Indians, invited Chief Tabby to his home August 20, 1867, where a peace treaty was signed, and a barbecue held on John Carroll's lot. This ended Indian depredations in the Valley, proving Brigham Young's statement that it is better to feed the Indians than to fight them.

Note: John Carroll's lot is now the North School playground.

3. Heber City's first bank. THE COMMERCIAL BANK opened in 1904. It stands on the corner of Center Street and Main Street. It was built with red sandstone from the Lake Creek Quarry. The words "Bank Block" are carved into the stone on the north side of the building.

4. THE WASATCH
WAVE BUILDING — Historic Site — was built about 1903 of shiplap lumber, and is located at 31 West Center Street.

The Wasatch Wave
weekly paper celebrated its 100th birthday on March 23, 1989. The original editor-owner was William Buys.

The Wave was published first in the upper room of the old courthouse, then upstairs in the Heber Exchange, and in the building pictured until it moved to it's current site at 675 West 100 South.

5. L.D.S. HEBER
SECOND WARD
MEETING HOUSE —
Historic Site This red brick building was built with a sandstone foundation and was completed under the direction of Bishop Joseph A. Rasband and James Heber Moulton, as construction supervisor. It is located at Center Street and 100 West.

The first building on this site was a Methodist Church under Dr. Eylliff.
That building was replaced by this one and used by the Heber L.D.S. Second Ward for many years. It is now the St. Lawrence
Catholic Church.

6. THE WASATCH LUMBER COMPANY is a unique old building that has survived the test of time. It was owned and operated by John Fortie and still remains in the Fortie family. Located at Center Street and 500 West.

7. THE HEBER CREEPER — At 600 West Center is the turn-of-the-century, Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Station. Railroad travel became a reality in Heber on September 29, 1899 when the line opened from Provo to the Heber area. The line enabled Heber residents to ship their livestock and farm commodities to outside markets. E. W. Sullivan was appointed station agent at Heber. There were two trains daily. The trail became known as the "Heber Creeper" and is still called that today. Currently owned by Lowe Ashton, the train makes daily runs down Provo Canyon and is one of Heber Valley's major tourist attractions. The Heber Creeper Village contains many old buildings from in and around Heber.

8. JOHN MURRAY
MURDOCH HOME — Historic Site, National Register

This home, located at 261 North 400 West, was built in 1880. John Murray Murdoch was a shepherd from Scotland, who was brought to Utah by Brigham Young to look after the L.D.S. Church sheep near Salt Lake City. By the time he arrived in Utah, those sheep had been sold, so Brigham Young sent him to Heber. He established the first cooperative sheep herd in Heber Valley in 1860.

9. Historic Site, National Register — THE JOHN CROOK HOME is made of red sandstone. Red brick was added later with white stone corners. It is located at 188 West 300 North. The home was built inside the area where old Fort Heber once stood. Crook owned the first red sandstone quarry east of Heber.

10. BILLIARDS HALL — Historic Site, National Register — Alva Moroni Murdock and Parley Alexander Murdock built the Billiards Hall at 139 North Main Street. It is one of the few early business places remaining in Heber City.

11. THE GEORGE
M. GILES RANCH
HOUSE and Hostelry.
Located at 98 South
Main.

12. Historic Site,
National Register —
THE DAVID FISHER
HOME is a red brick home built for David and Mary Ann McDonald
Fisher. He was a successful farmer, and miner
in Heber and Park City.
The home is located at 124 East 400 South.

13. Historic Site,
National Register —
THE ABRAM HATCH HOME is one of the two best examples of finely cut stone masonry in Heber City. The other is the Tabernacle. It is located at 81 East Center Street and was built by Elisha Averett for Abram Hatch, the first President of Wasatch Stake. This home was purchased by the Zions First National Bank and extensively restored to its original splendor.

14. Historic Site,
National Register —
THE JOHN E. AUSTIN HOME was built in 1905 by Thomas Lyon
Fisher. Austin became a very successful sheep rancher. This home was purchased by Dr.
William Russell Wherritt in 1908 and has remained in the family to this day. Located at 315
East Center Street.

15. Historic Site, National Register — THE GEORGE BLACKLEY HOME was built of ship-lap lumber by George Blackley in 1877. He was a fine carpenter and also worked on the Tabernacle. His skill can be seen in the elaborate scroll gingerbread work on the outside trim. Later Mr. Blackley ran the sprinkler wagon around Heber to keep the dusty streets wet in the summertime. Located at 421 East 200 North.

16. Historic Site,
National Register —
THE THOMAS TODD
HOME, built by Mr.
Todd, was completed in 1879. It is located at 411
East 400 North. The home has remained in the Todd family ever since. He led the Heber City Choir for many years. The small building just east of the house is interesting in that it is built of sandstone without mortar.

17. INDIAN BOY GRAVE — In the Heber City Cemetery is an engraved marker telling a very interesting story about Chief Tabby bringing his dead son to be buried. Turn into the cemetery at John Winterrose Lane, travel east and turn left at Bond Lane. To your left, under a large pine tree, you can visit the gravesite marked by a red sandstone and read this remarkable story.

18. Historic Site,
National Register —
THE JOSEPH STACY
MURDOCK HOME,
located at 115 East 300 North, is an example of an early red sandstone home. It was built about 1862. Joseph Stacy
Murdock and the Ute Chief Tabby, signed the Blackhawk War Peace Treaty in this home on August 20, 1867.

19. THE NORTH
ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, built of red sandstone, is located at 101 East 200 North. It is one of the few early buildings still used for its original purpose. It now houses the kindergarten classes.

20. THE SENIOR CITIZEN'S CENTER (Heber Social Hall) to the west on Tabernacle Square was constructed between 1906 and 1908 and was a cooperative effort of the three L.D.S. Wards in Heber. Constructed of native lumber and red sandstone, it was built by volunteer laborers under the supervision of Edward D. Clyde. The huge maple floor is supported by more than 400 coil springs. It is still considered one of the best dance floors in the state.
